2. Newly presented claims 139-159 are directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: 1) a method in which electrolyte is flowed on first and second portions of the substrate at the same time and plating current is applied to plating electrodes for the first and second portions separately; 2) a method in which electrolyte is flowed on a first portion of the substrate while plating on the first portion and electrolyte is flowed to the first portion and a second portion of the substrate simultaneously while plating the film on the second portion; 3) a method in which electrolyte is flowed on a first portion of the substrate while plating on the first portion of the substrate and electrolyte is flowed to the first and a second portion of the substrate simultaneously while plating on the first and second portions simultaneously.

3. In the Office Action mailed on March 24, 2004, an election of species requirement including the above listed three species was made. This Office Action stated, "If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a)."
